LifeWave Unveils Bold Look with New Packaging/Marketing Materials

(San Diego) (March 2011) -- Modern, sophisticated, and functional -- after months of design and development, LifeWave, an international distributorship company in more than 90 countries that offers a full line of unique non-transdermal patch products, recently launched the next generation of its visual identity. LifeWave’s new packaging is both striking and more functional and includes a new patch design, an attractive and informative all-product brochure and easy-to-use instruction booklets for each patch product. The new materials are available in 11 languages.

“LifeWave has devoted considerable time and resources to this identity update, and we have taken every packaging and design detail into consideration,” said LifeWave Founder and CEO David Schmidt. “The result is a new look that is efficient, sophisticated and innovative.”

Highlights of the packaging include new sleek and streamlined envelopes that are sturdy, re-closable and help users keep patches organized and easily accessible. All packages contain 30 patches and are a standard 1½ inch round. A new All-Product brochure was also produced that provides an overview of the LifeWave patch technology as well as a summary of the benefits of each patch. A new Instructions-for-Use booklet for each patch product provides usage information as well as proper patch placement procedures.
